DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-24 are pending. The previous rejection is withdrawn pursuant to Applicant's October 25, 2006 Amendment and Remarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cunningham, US 6,014,645.

Cunningham discloses, e.g. Figs. 1-4, using a computer for filling out an application on a web page/server, e.g. 44, web server, e.g. 22-34, an online credit report, e.g. 48, based upon approval criteria, e.g. application data 42, done in real-time.

Applicant's October 25, 2006 REMARKS have been reviewed are convincing with regards to the previous Office Action, but are moot in light of the new rejection. It is noted that intended use claim language, e.g. "to review," "to cause," is given little if any patentable weight in juxtaposition with positively recited claim language, e.g. "a first web server."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dykstra et al., US 6,029,149.

Dykstra discloses, e.g. Figs. 1-2F, using a computer for filling out an application, an online credit report based upon approval criteria, e.g. application data, done in real-time. Dykstra does not disclose a web page/server and which product the buyer is likely to purchase. Official Notice is taken that filling out application data on a web page/server has been common knowledge in the data processing art, as is research/surveys to indicate which product a consumer is likely to buy. To have provided such for Dykstra would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of Official Notice.

5. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Treider et al., US 7,082,412.

Treider discloses, e.g. Figs. 1-28, using a computer for filling out an application based upon approval criteria, e.g. application data, done in real-time, given a credit limit, e.g. 50, and sent to a vendor for purchasing products. Treider does not disclose a web page/server and which product the buyer is likely to purchase. Official Notice is taken that filling out application data on a web page/server has been common knowledge in the data processing art, as is research/surveys to indicate which product a consumer is likely to buy. To have provided such for Treider would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of Official Notice.
